VULCAN TO THE SKY

HONOURING THE PAST, INSPIRING THE FUTURE

In the highly competitive global aerospace market, all the players are at least agreed on one thing – more is needed to inspire the next generation to pursue careers in design and engineering.

Since the 1990's, a small team of dedicated professionals has executed an audacious plan to return Avro Vulcan XH558 to flight, working with manufacturers and industry leaders, overcoming technical, regulatory and financial challenges that many thought were insurmountable.

Our mission now is to use XH558 to inspire today's youngsters to heed the challenges and opportunities that face industry today, and to be involved with the solutions.

We know that the Vulcan's awesome display has an attention-grabbing impact on the young "X-Box/PlayStation" generation.

It is our goal to capitalise on their attention so gained, and to ask them to imagine how they would like to shape the world for their future.

The Vulcan to the Sky Trust now needs investment to deliver the three key mission elements that lay the foundations for the future:

- Underwrite the flying programme for at least the next four years;
- Develop and deliver the outreach education programme from primary school to sixth form covering all the Key Stages, and build relationships with the nation's higher education and life-long learning network;
- Secure a home base to ensure year-round public access to this national icon, and to develop a learning academy as a centre of excellence.

In recent months, VTST has had recognised success through an innovative Key Stage 2 education pack that teaches basic science, engineering and maths based around the Vulcan, and is already developing a series of initiatives to take our story out to youngsters of all ages.

Be part of it!

We are now looking for individual and corporate investors to secure funding for the three vital elements in our programme – inspiration through flying, teaching all ages and leaving a legacy for the next generation in the planned academy.

Between now and the end of her flying life, VTST will need on-going investment to support XH558 and deliver the inspirational educational benefits across the country. We believe that this will pay huge dividends through re-energising and re-skilling industry, and as a lasting British heritage project – truly “The Spirit of Great Britain”.
